Accident Insurance Investigated by SEC

London Life Offers Plan to Student Body

A Group Accident Insurance plan designed to provide reimbursement within specified limits for hospital, surgical, and medical expenses incurred by undergraduates during the academic year as a result of accidental injuries, is currently being investigated by a committee of the S.E.C. The plan also provides supplementary benefits payable in the event of accidental death or dismemberment.

The plan was adopted by the students at Macdonald College this year. The cost is $2.50 per participant for the academic term of eight months. The same scheme is being proposed to the students at McGill by the London Life Insurance Company, who have underwritten the Macdonald plan. It would entail a corresponding raise in the students' fee of $2.50.

The benefits include hospitalization, in which the Daily Benefit would be a maximum of $400 a day, limited to 70 times the Daily Benefit, and in which the Special Hospital Services would not exceed 10 times the Daily Benefit.

Surgical Fee Benefits, as per an "operation schedule," provide that if two operations are necessary at the same time, payment will be made for the operation involving the larger amount.

Medical Expense Benefits provide for physician's visit up to a maximum of $3.00 per visit, limited to a $200.00 maximum payment. No Medical Expense Benefits are payable for any physician's calls made at the time of or subsequent to surgical operation. They do not include fees charged for dental X-Rays or treatments and eye examinations, nor the costs of nursing charges, drugs, dressings, and medicine.

A supplementary benefit provides a principal sum of $1,000 payable in the event of accidental death or total dismemberment.

STUDENTS ELIGIBLE
All students registered in undergraduate courses proceeding to a diploma or degree could come into the plan, except those who are eligible for benefits under the regulations of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, or other groups of students which it might be expedient to exclude.

It is felt that many students may already be covered by some family scheme, such as the Blue Cross, or other Accident Insurance Policy, and hence would have no need for the proposed plan. The University Authorities are not in favor of raising the fees unless it is clearly indicated that at least two-thirds

Canadian, European Spirit Contrasted by WHO Member

By Lyn Lindsay

The people of Canada are thinking much more broadly than those in the older parts of the world, is the opinion of Miss Wilhelmina Visscher, a former student in the Public Health Division of the School for Graduate Nurses.

Miss Visscher, who is a native of Amsterdam, Holland, has been appointed to the Korean staff of the World Health Organization. She has already travelled extensively in Europe, Africa, England and North America, after doing her basic study of nursing in Holland.

"In Canada," she commented during an interview yesterday, "the people are more interested in the larger community group than in family and close friends. The Canadian, as a rule, has a much wider group of friends and acquaintances and the result is that the community spirit is far stronger than in Europe."

The ardor with which Canadians organize drives for welfare and social services astonished Miss Visscher. She said that she was amazed when a drive, which was falling behind, reached its objective in a last minute spurt.

"The spirit behind the giving and the interest in their fellow Canadians' welfare calls forth so generous a response that it would rarely be equalled in the more class-conscious Europe," she commented.

'No Energy to Waist' At MOC Hayseed Hop

Energy that has gone to waist will be utilized by the Hayseed Hop committee of the M.O.C. In announcing an admission price which will be based on protruding abdomens, the campus group outlined their plans for their annual Hop on Saturday night, November 26, in the Union Ballroom.

The admission price has been fixed at $1.25 plus one cent for every inch of the lady's waist. A well-known local band will supply alternate music for square dancing and modern dancing. Professor John Waller will call the square dances, and Monsieur Batiste Lefou, local hermit of St. Ebernez en Bas is to be M.C. The decorations are under Faye Rodriguez and will emphasize the barnyard theme, with giant spiders, cobwebs, privies and milkable cows hanging from every corner.

Costumes are a prerequisite and unusual prizes will be awarded to the most originally dressed couple.

Ticket sales will be limited to one hundred and fifty couples, and will go on sale today at the ticket agency in the Union.

SCM Features Speakers and Study Groups

Fresh from a week-end "invasion" of Tyndale House, the Presbyterian mission on Closse street, S.C.M.ers will this week engage in a busy round of activities.

Starting Friday night with a study group in which they discussed the Christian value and meaning of work, the S.C.M. contingent bunched in at Tyndale House for their week-end work camp. Saturday they gave the building a face-lifting, while Sunday was taken up with a worship service and further study groups.

Headlining the S.C.M. program this week is a series of three addresses on the general topic "Christian Social Responsibility." Speakers in this series will be: Murray Chipman, Montreal director of the McLean-Hunter Publishing Co., on Tuesday; Dr. R. B. Y. Scott, of the faculty of divinity, on Thursday and the Very Rev. K. C. Evans, dean of Christ Church Cathedral, on Friday. All the addresses will be held at 1 p.m. at the S.C.M. House, 3625 Oxenden avenue.

A series of five study groups are also currently being held at S.C.M. The subjects and times are: "Is Religion Relevant?", on Monday

Legal Heads Plan Survey Of Profession

An extensive survey of the legal profession officially commenced yesterday with the receipt of questionnaires by all members of the Bar. This is the first time that any survey of this kind has been made in any profession in Canada.

Professor F. R. Scott, of the Faculty of Law announced yesterday that the aim of this survey was to determine how effectively the legal profession is fulfilling its purpose in the community and whether any changes seem necessary in the training or organization of lawyers in the future.

"People need legal advice and protection when their rights are violated," he stated "and they need legal assistance in organizing their activities so that they may conform to the legal order. Efficient and impartial administration is essential to a democracy. For this, well-trained and public-spirited lawyers are necessary."

This survey will help improve the status of training for the profession it is believed. The questionnaire is designed to give a comprehensive picture of the activities of every lawyer.

The answers received will be studied by leading members of the bar, among them Dr. F. Cyril James.

This survey is the result of a conference of lawyers held recently in Banff. The study here parallels a similar one being carried on now in the United States.

Lord Wavell to Speak At Macdonald College

Field Marshal Earl Wavell, British wartime commander-in-chief in the Middle East, will give the fourth annual Memorial Address in the assembly hall of Macdonald College at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

During the afternoon, Lord Wavell will be entertained at a tea under the auspices of the Student Veterans' Organization, the Students' Council, and the Home Economics Club. This tea will be given in the Home Management Flat, at 4.00 p.m.

Later the guest speaker will be entertained at dinner in the Walter Stewart House. The guest list includes the guest speaker and his aide; the Officer Commanding the Black Watch and his wife; and the Chancellor, Principal and Vice-Principal of McGill and their wives.

Former McGill Student Accepts Embassy Post

Miss Shirley B. Nickerson, a former student of McGill University, has assumed her new duties on the staff of the American Embassy in Cairo, Egypt. Her assignment is for a two year period.

Prior to her present position, she received an appointment from the State Department last October and spent several weeks at the Foreign Service Institute in Washington.

A native of Providence, Rhode Island, Miss Nickerson studied at Becker Junior College in Worcester, Mass., at McGill University, and at Clark University, Worcester, where she received her B. A. degree.

Miss Nickerson served with the United States Navy, Women's Reserve, and the United States Coast Guard, Women's Reserve for three years during World War II.

Trip to Laurentians Planned by Cosmos

A weekend of activities in the Laurentians has been planned by the Cosmopolitan Club. "This weekend should be one of the Cosmos' most successful events, for many activities have been planned, designed to cram the weekend full of fun and a warm, friendly atmosphere," president Tony Mantzavinos told the Daily.

Hikes, skiing (if the weather permits), sing-songs, and many novel items are planned for this outing.

The train will leave Park Ave. station for Shawbridge at 2 P.M. Saturday, and all expenses for the weekend can be covered by $4.00. Accommodations are limited for twenty-five boys and twenty girls, so that members who are going should sign the list which will be at the Union tuck shop till Thursday at 5 P. M.

PAY DAY

The ticket sellers for the football season will be paid on Wednesday between 1-2 at the athletics office. This is the last time that the money can be collected.

WINTER CLOTHES were tried on by the campus buildings yesterday as the season's first heavy snowfall hit the region. The path through the woods for stowed mufflers and goloshes, which followed this initial precipitation.

Faculty Head Comments on New Constitutional Changes

By Gerald N. F. Charness

"Canada is expected to sever two of her three remaining constitutional links with Great Britain by the end of this Parliamentary session," stated Professor F. R. Scott of the Faculty of Law yesterday.

The only three ties that remained between this country and Britain were those of the Crown, appeals to the Privy Council, and amendments to the Canadian Constitution. At the beginning of the parliamentary session it was decided to abolish all appeals to the Privy Council in England. By the end of this session it is hoped that Canada will have the right to amend her own Constitution.

At present the Federal Government has the right to make constitutional changes regarding matters of Dominion concern. However this right does not extend to matters such as the two official languages, education, or any others which lie within the jurisdiction of the provinces. It is this latter which is to be amended before the end of the session.

"With regard to the first and only remaining link," said Professor Scott, "I know of no body of opinion in Canada who wish to abolish the Crown from our Constitution, although there have been small groups in Quebec urging that Canada become a republic. On the other hand, many Canadians want a Canadian Governor-General. This opinion, in my view, has a great deal to commend it."

Moreover, I believe that Canada already is a completely independent nation, that these changes merely represent relics of a bygone age. It is well known that the British Government has never refused to grant any amendment to the B.N.A. Act.

Guatemalan Missionary To Lecture at IVCF

Rev. William C. Vaughters, who has just returned from four years in Guatemala, will speak at a Missionary Meeting of the McGill Christian Fellowship at Student House, 3445 Peel St., on Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Rev. Vaughters will be showing about 100 colour slides, among which are included rare pictures of the almost extinct Lacandon Indians. Livingston, where Rev. Vaughters was headquartered, is an isolated, off-railroad, tribal town populated largely by Indians, Negroes, Hindus, a few Chinese, some pure Spaniards and very few Americans. All travel in and out of the village is by boat. Rev. Mr. Vaughters has to travel over 100 miles inland by motorboat to reach his Indian tribes. He describes the Indians as peaceful and agricultural. They live hand-to-mouth on corn and are apparently in no hurry to take on some of the blessings of civilization.

THE GREAT HALL of the recently completed Students Memorial Union at Queen's University. The grey chipped-stone Union, built at a cost of $850,000 to replace a smaller structure destroyed by fire in 1947, contains men's and women's lounges, dining hall, snack bar, various club rooms and offices of The Queen's Journal. A new feature of the building is the admission of women within its walls. Women were strictly barred from the old building by a rule which recalled that Queen's was for men only until 1870 when women were first allowed to take lectures.

Dawson Financial Situation On Open Meeting Agenda

Faculty Group To Address First Gen Nite

Nine professors will speak to students' this Thursday evening at the first "Gen Nite" of the year, Keith Eddy, chairman of the Education Committee of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society, announced yesterday. The "Gen Nite" which had to be postponed a week ago owing to the Blood Donor Clinic, is scheduled for the Union Ballroom Thursday evening, Nov. 24 at 8.00 p.m.

Dean H. N. Fieldhouse will open the "Gen Nite" with a short talk and will be followed by Professors A. L. Phelps of the English Dept., F. M. Watkins of the Political Science Dept., E. R. Pounder of the Physics Dept., B. Zaborsky of the Geography Dept. and a member of the Chemistry Department to be announced later.

After the opening talk, each professor will speak for several minutes on "What our department has to offer you." These short talks will be followed by a question period.

This first "Gen Nite" of the year has been designed to give students, especially freshmen, an opportunity to orientate themselves with the various departments of McGill University.

It is hoped by the organizing group that students will avail themselves of this opportunity to meet the various departmental relations concerning future studies or problems that may exist. The committee has planned refreshments for the close of the meeting.

Revue Talent Trials To-day In the Union

More talent is needed for the Red and White Revue of 1950.

There are close to fifty roles, including the chorus line, in this year's production of a member of the casting committee said yesterday. Despite the good turnout last Thursday there is still room for others in the cast.

"All those who wish to sing, act, or dance are welcome," said producer Bill Nichols.

Nichols points out to co-eds that no actual dance training is necessary although a knowledge of modern dance would be of great assistance. A good sense of rhythm, however, is absolutely essential.

Try-outs will be held today in the Union Ballroom at 2 p.m. and the casting committee will be auditioning throughout the afternoon. Readings will be from the script of the 1950 Revue and music will be supplied for those who require it. Any candidate may bring his own music if he so desires.

Further information may be obtained from Dave Struthers at MA. 1736, after 6 p.m.

Minister to Address Christian Fellowship

Rev. William C. Vaughters, who has just returned from four years in Guatemala, will speak at a missionary meeting of the McGill Christian Fellowship at Student House, 3445 Peel street, today at 5 p.m. one hundred color slides including some rare pictures of the almost extinct Lacandon Indians will be shown.

It is believed that only about 500 of these Indians are still in existence, and it takes two weeks travelling into the jungles of the interior to contact them.

Rev. Mr. Vaughters had his headquarters at Livingston, an isolated, off-railroad, tribal town populated by Indians, Hindus, some pure Spaniards, a few Chinese and very few Americans. All travel in and out of the village is by boat, and Mr. Vaughters sometimes has to travel over a 100 miles inland by motorboat to reach his Indian tribes.

The Indians are described by Mr. Vaughters as peaceful and living a very simple agricultural life with no apparent hurry to adopt any of the aspects of civilization.

Record High Indicated In Old McGill Sales

"Twenty-five per cent of all undergraduates have responded and bought their Annuals," it was reported by Ben Nyeste, sales manager of 'Old McGill' '50, in an interview yesterday. By the time the booths close at 3 p.m. today, record sales surpassing last year's total are expected.

Ralph Swaine, editor-in-chief said: "This is encouraging considering that these results were achieved in the first of two sales planned for this year and interest shown in 'Old McGill' has now reached a record high."

At the end of the first sale, run off last year at this time, sales were only half the present total. With the final push expected today it is hoped that an all time high will be reached.

Compulsory Sports Upheld By Freshmen

Eli Kobernick and John Haly successfully upheld that McGill should institute compulsory athletic participation yesterday, in the third of a series of first year debates.

The affirmative team stated that athletics help everyone who takes part in them, both in a physical and in an academic way. The only possible method to ensure that the maximum number of people will derive benefit from them is to make participation compulsory.

The negative team, which consisted of David Byrd and John O'Brian, argued that students would not submit to this form of compulsion. A university is supposed to be a free educational institution where every student is mature enough to choose the courses and activities which he prefers. Indeed, under such circumstances, if a student was doubtful about participating in athletics, such a system might cause him to decide finally against taking any part. They applied the term "regiment recreation" in summarizing the situation which such a ruling might produce within the university.

The delegation from Dawson will include Bob Taylor, president of the Student Society; Cy Rosen, president of the Arts and Science Society; and another representative not yet announced.

The funds of the Dawson S.E.C. were frozen by Bob Taylor upon receipt of a letter from the Financial Committee, signed by co-chairman Hal Corrigan, stating that it would be necessary to reduce their budget by $200 per student in order to eliminate the deficit.

This statement is only provisional and will not be effected if Dawson College should close next spring. Colin McCallum has arranged an interview with Principal James for tomorrow morning.

It is his intention to gain some definite information regarding a possible termination of academic pursuits at the St. Johns school. Meanwhile, Bob Taylor has announced to the students at Dawson that a general meeting will be held tonight in '71. He intends reading a full account of the council's expenditures and to inform the students of the exact situation currently existing.

He also said that the budget reduction will affect operation of their clubs, therefore the meeting (Continued on Page 4.)

SEC Election Procedure Outlined by John Shearman

The election procedure to be followed in the Students' Society election to be held on December 7 was outlined today by John Shearman, chief returning officer for the election. Picture, platform and pen-sketches of the various candidates must be in the hands of Ralph Shackell, secretary-treasurer of the Students' Society, not later than noon, Saturday, November 26.

"This is a rigid deadline," Shearman stated. "Candidates must present their election data before the stated hour if they wish to obtain adequate publicity for their election. It cannot be too greatly emphasized that this deadline must be met."

The photographs of the candidates must be glossy prints of a suitable size for making cuts. The platform and pen-sketches combined must not exceed 400 words in length. "This is the absolute maximum," Shearman commented. "Space does not permit us to ask for longer platforms and pen-sketches."

The Daily reserves the right to ask candidates to reduce the number of words in their platforms and pen-sketches if necessary. Shearman reported that nominations are being handed in very slowly. "Though eleven positions are open for election," he said, "to date, only two nominations have been received. It is quite possible that a number of others are being circulated; but as yet, they have not been turned in."

Nominations for the various Faculty representatives to be elected to Students' Executive Council must be signed by twenty-five students in the candidate's faculty. The candidates must sign the nomination sheets to signify his acceptance of the nomination. All nominations must be in the hands of the secretary-treasurer of the Students' Society not later than noon, Saturday, November 26. The names of the various candidates running for election will be published in the Daily on Tuesday, November 29. Pictures, platforms and pen-sketches of all candidates will be published later. The election will take place on Wednesday, December 7, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

LAST CALL

With the Charities Drive so far a failure, the executive in charge has extended the campaign until Thursday when a last-ditch effort to raise money will be made with a tag day.

At the very most, the amount of money collected on a per capita basis is less than five cents. It is difficult to believe that many students cannot afford even a nickel for the various charitable institutions which would benefit from the fund drive at McGill.

The drive last year was also a failure, but a considerably larger amount of money was raised simply because several campus organizations got behind the drive to prevent it from becoming a total flop. The remarkable thing about this year's effort is the fact that there has been no such rallying to the cause.

If each campus club raised the tiny sum of ten dollars the Charities Drive would realize eight hundred dollars, or about four times the amount presently in the coffers.

As Others See It

PATHETIC FALLACY

Yesterday there appeared in The Halifax Chronicle-Herald an editorial praising Dr. Watson Kirkconnell of Acadia.

Kirkconnell brands as "incredibly naive" the action of the Student Christian Movement in sending delegates to the World Youth Festival held this summer in Hungary. Of all Canadian organizations which attended the conference, Dr. Kirkconnell claims it to be the only one without Communist leanings.

We do not question the accuracy of Dr. Kirkconnell's statistics. We do question his reasoning. He seems to believe that these few representatives of the S. C. M. were "hoping to convert the hard-boiled goose-stepping Red activists of the Festival to Christianity." He considers it shameful that these few Canadian youths "fellowshipped cheerfully with thirty young Communist traitors all the way to Hungary and back," and claims "they helped to give respectability to a traitorous world conspiracy."

All of these statements display just the type of bias, fear and shortsightedness which has prompted the intermittent and ever-increasing "Red scares" in the United States. If Canadians are not to be allowed to take part in such activities, they will be subject to the same fear of the unknown that is so prevalent in the States. It would be just as logical to state that doctors should not be allowed near the sick, or social workers near the impoverished. We must all conduct ourselves with the same blind terror

McGill Graduate

DISCOVERS THIRD SEX

Foreword

The following article from The Providence Journal reports the discovery of a third sex in blepharisma, a single-cell animal, by Prof. Paul B. Weisz, a graduate of McGill now at Brown University. Dr. Weisz entered McGill in 1940, graduated as an honors student in zoology in 1943 and obtained his doctorate in zoology in 1946. He held the position of lecturer in the department of zoology.

A Brown University professor, plugging away at a research project that has been engaging his attention for the past three years, peered into his microscope one day last week in a little room in the Arnold Biological Laboratory and came up with a startling discovery! A single cell animal with three sexes.

Prof. Paul B. Weisz, the youthful discoverer, couldn't believe his eyes at first, he confessed in a laboratory interview.

"I thought it was impossible or something abnormal," he said. "Then I thought twice about it, followed it up and found three sexes in the blepharisma, all equivalent."

The importance of his find was assessed by his chief, Prof. J. Walter Wilson, chairman of the university biology department, in these words:

"From the biological point of view, it's enormously important. The problem of sex in biology is a

Professor Sprott Horrified at Canadian Tobacco Prices

By EMILY HICK

Describing himself as "something of a refugee from Australian academic parochialism," Mr. S. Ernest Sprott, newly appointed Professor of English at McGill, stated in a recent interview; "I spend my time teaching literature because I hold it to be not just interesting, or recreational, or incidental, but important."

Professor Sprott, a native of Australia, studied English and Classics at the University of Melbourne, where he later did research work. In 1942 he received his Master's degree, and he spent the next four years in the Australian army.

Three years ago he came to the United States, and taught at Barnard College at Columbia University. Last year he was made a Fellow in English and Comparative Literature at Columbia. Referring to living in New York, Professor Sprott said he appreciated the artistic life there, but "rather regretted the impact on personality that such a city seems to have." He added, "It is better to have lived there and left than never to have left at all."

He found it interesting to come to McGill, where the British associations make him feel quite at home. "In some respects McGill is like Melbourne. The provision of the Honors and General degrees here resembles Melbourne's. In their approach to their work the senior students show an independence like that of Melbourne students. However," he continued, "I nearly resigned when I discovered the horrible price of Canadian tobacco."

Since this is Professor Sprott's first real visit to Canada, he says he is not too well acquainted with this country. "I am slowly finding my way around Montreal. I had been told it was a very cosmopolitan city, and found this cur-

"Item: On the 24th, a small, insinuating clyster, preparative and gentle, to soften, moisten and refresh the bowels of M. Argan." What I like about M. Fleurant, my apothecary, is that his bills are always civil. "The bowels of M. Argan." All the same M. Fleurant, it is not enough to be civil, you must also be reasonable, and not plunder sick people. Thirty sous for a clyster! I have already told you, with all due respect to you that elsewhere you have only charged me 20 sous; and 20 sous, in the language of apothecaries, means only 10 sous. M. Argan, the imaginary invalid is fuming at his apothecary.

Le Malade Imaginaire (The Imaginary Invalid), a spicy satire about physicians, is the last comedy written by Moliere. He was very ill, nearly dying, at the time he wrote it and he died after his performance in the title role.

Coach Eyes Newcomers; Pucksters Workout Today In View of Toronto Game

Coach Campbell will finally see what his 1949-50 edition of the McGill hockey squad looks like at today's practice. He expects to have the regulars who have been out with the team for the last four weeks plus several members of the Senior football team.

This will be the second to last practice before the hockey season's opening game against Toronto Varsity next Friday night.

Already Campbell's injury list looks like mid-season length. Both Phil Henry and Ross Parsons are recovering from cartilage removals. Henry will be out for another two months, while Parsons hopes to be back on skates before Christmas.

Other veterans returning to the Campbell Clan already out with the team are Sandy Sanderson and Jack Hennessey on defence, and Charlie Lafontaine and Bob Russell two of last year's promising rookies. Tony Dobell who took over in goal when Jack Gelineau went up to the Bruins is also back.

Freddy Gagnon who has been called "another Gelineau" is a prospect for the goaltender position up from the Inter team. Also up from the 49 seconds are Ham Quain, Arn Taylor, and Ted Murphy all forwards.

FOOTBALL TEAM
From the football team Campbell hopes to form the nucleus of his squad. Reporting will be last year's stars Rocky Robillard and Dave Hackett. Rock was on the first string last season, while Dave played the injury list Henry and Parsons. Gene Robillard, who showed well in several exhibition games last season, will also try for a berth with the Senior Hockey Redmen. As a freshman last year Gene was ineligible for Senior CIAU competition.

Newcomers to McGill, Bob Marshall, Moe Malone, Bob McClellan, and Harry Irving are also possibilities for Campbell's team. All are experienced puck men. Irving played with the Western Canada Collegiate Hockey Championship team last year. Malone, cousin of Royal's Cliff Malone and son of the former NHL great Joe Malone played with Loyola in the Intermediate League last season. McClellan goalied for Toronto St. Mike's junior "B" squad last year, while big Bob Marshall comes to McGill from Michigan State, one of the best hockey colleges in the states.

McGill Rugger Team Drop 15-3 Final to Xavarians

Although at the wrong end of a 15-3 score in the MacTier Cup Final played in Antigonish last Saturday, the McGill Rugger Team fought a battle of which McGill students can rightly feel proud. No one supports this view more than the three thousand odd spectators who saw the game.

Though they had come enforced with colours and cheerleaders to cheer their team to victory in the most important Rugger match to be played there for several years, they showed their admiration for the fighting spirit and refusal to give in displayed by the Redmen.

This match was the first for many years to be played between a Montreal team and one from the Maritimes. Since those early days and until recently, support for Rugger in Quebec and Ontario has become progressively weaker. In the Maritimes, on the other hand, it is a major drawing card and is still the favourite sport at several of the Universities there. Few McGill supporters dared to predict the outcome of last Saturday's encounter, and of those who saw the match, few were not surprised. The red squad demonstrated not only that they are in the same class, but that when faced with strong opposition, they can play a very good game.

STARS REINFORCED

The Xavarians were represented by this year's Maritimes Intercollegiate Championship Team reinforced by several stars with names well-known in Maritime Rugger circles. The most impressive aspect of their play was their fast and accurate back field movements. In the forwards, though they heavily outweighed the Redmen, they showed neither the speed nor the aggressive spirit that in the second half all but overwhelmed them. In the first half, the McGill men were taken off guard by a style of play that they had not previously encountered. The score at half-time was 12-0. In the second half, after a redistribution in the back field, they were better able to counteract the fast-moving thrusts that came from the Xavarian wings. The fine display of defensive kicking and a series of fast rushing forward attacks held the score in this half to a three point tie. On several occasions in the last ten minutes they came close to scoring.

The spirit of enthusiasm and friendliness shown to the visitors from Montreal was most impressive. Both teams look forward to meeting in the future with the MacTier Cup again at stake.

11 Colleges Entered In Circuit

The McGill Intermediate basketball team is entered in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference League this year. The league contains many of the most formidable intermediate teams in Eastern Canada and it will be a real feat for the McGill Hoopsters to finish anywhere near the top.

The league consists of eleven teams: The Georgians, last year's intercollegiate champions, Bishop's College, Dawson College, U. of M., Macdonald College, Queen's, Royal Military College, Ottawa U., Carleton, Loyola and McGill.

This year's addition of the Intermediate team is being coached by Manny Schacter. Manny, a star with the senior Redmen during his college days, has a host of potential material to work with. To date there are twelve men on the squad and most likely one or two will still come down from the senior team.

BERGER AND GODEL

Hy Berger and Elli Godel, who played with the senior team last year, promised to be standouts for this year's team. Also back are such stalwarts as Baker, Brown and Thomas of last year's Intermediate squad. Pye, a newcomer to McGill's basketball ranks, shows plenty of promise and has the makings of a real star. Jack Kurtz, who started off with the inters last year, but was forced to retire, is back again. Morrison, Conger, Fisher, Menard, and Slemers round out the squad. The latter played with the Dawson senior team last year and should be up well this year.

Coach Manny Schacter has not had much time to whip his team into tip-top shape yet, but it is felt that they will be ready for their opening tilt against U. of M. on December 3 at Sir Arthur Currie Gym. The schedule is the toughest a McGill intermediate squad has yet faced and should provide many thrills and a real good brand of basketball.

The following is the beginning of the Intermediate Basketball schedule.

Interfaculty Hoop Season Play Starts With Six Tilts Last Night at Gymnasium

By FRED GOTTHEIL

The gym floor buzzed with activity last night as twelve teams clashed to open the Intramural Basketball season.

In the first tilt the Phys. Ed. 4 squad, rated as "the team to beat" edged out the Phys. Ed. 1 squad by a 26-20 decision. It was a closely contested match with the score fairly even throughout the entire game.

Hal Biewald, of the Phys. Ed. 1 squad sunk five baskets for a total of ten points. Menard followed with eight. Bell accounted for the other two to give them their twenty points.

For the victors, Orpen led with eight while Pottle, Taylor and Forcand each sunk a pair giving them four points each.

The Plumbers and Grads squared off in the second tilt with the engineering Plumbers gaining a 19-4 victory. It was a fast moving affair with the Plumbers ahead from the first whistle. Chamberlain was the big gun for the Plumbers netting a total of seven points.

The Engineering 3 and 4 started the season right by hanging a 21-17 defeat to the Trojans of the Arts and Science boys. The Trojans were ahead 9-5 in the first half but failed to hold that lead. The big scorers for the Engineers were Naves and Goldbloom who came through with three baskets each for a total of twelve points. Grossman led the Trojans with seven points followed by teammate Willan who garnered five.

Both teams looked good but the Engineers had more opportunities for score which resulted in their win.

LEWIS SCORES

The Daily squad made their debut by bowing to the Phys. Ed. 3 team by a 33-8 score. This closely matched game was highlighted by Dally's Cy Lewis who sunk a beautiful close-in shot but only to further the Phys. Ed. score as our new Newman scored in the Daily Basin.

From the land of skis

A CENTURY OF INTENSE SKIING enthusiasm has created the world-famous HOLMENKOLLEN competition, the thrilling slalom contests at Røskleiva and Galdhøeggen and the "MARIUS STREAMLINE" ski.

To make this unique ski, the best Norwegian skismakers worked together with the best Norwegian skiers. The result of this cooperation between craftsman and champion is a resilient smooth-running ski which maintains perfect tension and bend.

In the production of the "MARIUS STREAMLINE" ski only choice materials are used. Look at these results obtained with MARIUS skis in Norwegian and international competitions:

1st prize championships of Norway 1946, 1948, 1949; 1st prize in Holmenkollen downhill and slalom contests 1947, 1948, 1949; 1st prize at Gold-Pigen 1947, 1948.

All the Norwegian Olympic competitors at St. Moritz, 1948, used MARIUS skis.

Your chances of being a good skier are better if you use the best ski in Canada. "MARIUS STREAMLINE" skis are sold at NORWAY SPORTS, Montreal, where you as a student get 10% discount.

Varsity Ready For 1949-50 Hoopla Season

Barry Lowes, in the absence of Bob Masterson has been drilling the Varsity Senior Hoopla Squad these past few weeks and expects Toronto to turn out another strong squad. Masterson, whose football duties have taken most of his time, will now concentrate on shaping up a formidable team with an eye on coping the Intercollegiate Basketball Championship.

Jack Gray, a sixty-minute man on the football team has had a few basketball practices under his belt and is quickly regaining his basketball legs. Bob is one of the few veterans back with this year's team. Another vet, guard Johnny McManus, has been showing up well in practice. Much is expected of the above duo. Don Barber, an ex-UC junior star has also caught the eye of Coach Masterson. Barber is over 6'5 and with good handling should develop into a high scorer. Slim Tisale, another court giant, is also seeking a berth on this year's squad.

New Star

The most impressive player to date has been Jud Gibb, an American lad who possesses plenty of basketball know-how. His impressive ball-handling and accurate shot has raised the eyebrows of all practised spectators.

Bill Huycke, ex-YMCA junior star, is also sure to land a berth on the Senior team. Huycke played on last year's Dominion Junior Championship Squad and may well help in filling the gap left by the departure of Ed Brennan and Glen Pettinger.

Team 6 Loses 18-5 In Womens Basketball

Last Friday, November 18, Team 6 encountered Team 8 in the Women's Basketball League, with the former team emerging on the better side of an 18-5 score. Polly Benua and Kathy Coit showed well on the forward line for Team 8, while their guards Pat Wallace and Virginia Falls successfully held out Team 6's scorers. Barbara Holden and Sue O'Heir were the outstanding forwards for Team 6, with Joyce Clarihue displaying some fine guarding on the defense line. Intramural games scheduled for today are: Barnjums (4) vs (Cartwrights) (5) and Leacocks (2) vs Lambs (3). These games will be played in the Currie Gym at 4.00 p.m. See the R.V.C. bulletin board for referees.

Royal Commission Receives Recommendations from ISS

Toronto. — (CUP) — As a national organization representing students, faculty and graduates from universities across Canada, International Student Service felt its activities would be of interest to the Royal Commission of Arts, Letters and Sciences, Matt Saunders, national secretary of I.S.S., declared in an interview here.

A brief has been presented to the commission, outlining Canada's unique project in international education with particular reference to the International Seminars which I.S.S. of Canada has sponsored in Europe (in Holland and Germany) during the last two summers. (Fifty students from universities across Canada and several outstanding Canadian professors attended each seminar.)

(Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, member of the commission, is president of the University of British Columbia and at the I.S.S. conference recently held in Montreal he was re-elected president of I.S.S. of Canada.)

Recommended Federal Support
"ISS recommended to the Royal Commission that this significant national project be put on a permanent annual basis through financial support from the federal government," Saunders continued. "The brief also stressed the interest of Canadian ISS in promoting an increased exchange of students between Canada and Europe. In this regard ISS recommended that the federal government consider the use of funds frozen in overseas countries for the provision of exchange scholarships in a manner similar to those now provided under the Fulbright Act in the United States."

The brief further contained information about funds from the annual campaign which are earmarked for such projects as displaced persons scholarships and material assistance to needy students in Europe and Asia.

Support National Scholarships
"ISS also recommended the early creation of a national UNESCO commission to coordinate and assist the work of such organizations as ISS which sponsors projects in the field of UNESCO in Canada," the brief also supported the need for a system of national scholarships to assist deserving and needy Canadian students who wish to enter our universities," Saunders concluded.

The brief was presented by Professors Marcus Long and L. E. M. Lynch of the University of Toronto, Warden Ignatieff of Hart House, Ed. Eberle, University of Toronto student, Professor Raymond David of the University of Montreal, and Mr. Saunders.

No Canadian Seminar
The Commission asked when the brief was presented, why ISS seminars are not held in Canada, and were told that this was impossible at the present time since under the present set-up, the provincial governments were willing to supply funds for seminars overseas but would not supply funds for foreign students to attend seminars in Canada. The commission also asked whether ISS is planning to bring more DP students to Canada again soon. It was explained to them that no more students would be brought since the first responsibility was to assure the success of those ISS-sponsored students already in Canada. The excellent reports of these students, money for whom is being supplied by yearly campaigns in the universities, was also commented on after enquiry from the commission.

is better. Their new coach Wally Halder expects to have many of last year's squad back. Both Turcotte and Boyd leading scorers for the second place team last year are back. Also returning is Wilf Digby, all star Intercollegiate defence man last season. Starry rookie Rich Howson has taken off football cleats, he played with the Toronto Inter squad this season and has gone over to the icelanes. Also back from the '49 blues are Ernie Frey and Artie Bell.

The Varsity squad is well supplied with rookies. Fighting it out for the goalkeepers position are Gerry Carl, from Oakville and Orr a onetime Upper Canada College star. On the forward line Coach Halder has Bob Bazos, who has had a bid from the Toronto Marlboro Juniors and Al Conboy.

is to allow the students to decide what is to be done. The continued existence of the Students Council depends upon their decision.

If the students wish the council to remain as an administrative unit they will consent to the latter taking action. In the event that they show no enthusiasm, the council will dissolve since operating expenses are just being met under the present circumstances.

The meeting Wednesday night will discuss elimination of the deficit by using the proceeds from the Dawson canteen, snack-bar and bowling alley. The budget reduction will also be aired and it is hoped that further information concerning Dawson's closing will be revealed, for it is on this point in particular that further action must be determined.

lously confirmed when I saw a sign on St. Catherine street saying: "Famous nuts from all over the world!"

At present Professor Sprott is teaching an undergraduate course in 17th century English literature, and a graduate course in 17th century literary background. "I am also endeavouring to redeem the freshmen from the error of their untutored ways." In addition, he hopes to have published a small book on Milton, and is currently engaged in a general work on "Scepticism in the 17th Century." Being interested in contemporary Canadian literature, he is looking forward to reading the work of Canadians.

Professor Sprott earnestly believes "in the education of the whole human being that is achieved in the process of mastering the material of an academic course, I think that literature, because it demands of the student not simply an intellectual knowledge, but an experience to be evaluated, is of prime value in a humane education." He is eager to have his students "develop the capacity to enjoy literature in their own right."

Dropping the academic discussion, Professor Sprott confided that he was "looking forward to the deep snows of winter, since I am not accustomed to snow, you see. Only when I came to the northern hemisphere did I realize what Browning meant by 'Oh to be in England Now that April's here.'" Speaking of England, he went on to say that he knew the inside story on the devaluation of the pound. "Devaluation occurred," he stated imprecisely, "because I always lose money when I shift."

60 YEARS OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

1889 1949

Lamp oil or kerosene, the most valued product derived from petroleum in 1889, was often peddled from door to door in horse-drawn tank wagons. Gasoline, a dangerous by-product, was a drug on the market for many years. Today the search for new oil deposits and the search for still greater efficiency in refining petroleum into hundreds of useful products have become the objectives of a vast petroleum industry. Nickel steels, because of their exceptional strength and toughness, are practically indispensable in the machinery which drills deep into the earth. In the refineries, Nickel alloys have solved numerous problems because they resist acid corrosion and stand up under terrific heat and sub-zero temperatures.

Canadian Nickel sold Abroad brings in U.S. Dollars

Since more than ninety per cent of the Nickel produced in Canada is sold to the United States and other countries, it brings a constant flow of dollars back to Canada. In fact, Canada's Nickel industry is one of our chief sources of U.S. dollars so essential at the present time to maintain our foreign trade and make available products not produced in this country.

These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees, and help provide the dollars which make it possible to pay millions in freight to Canadian railways, to buy timber, steel, coal, machinery and supplies amounting to many millions each year.

These millions, flowing into all industries through the length and breadth of Canada, help create jobs for Canadians.
